To Whom It May Concern:

Carson Helicopters was founded in 1963. Our business has evolved from a record setting history in industrial lifting, through innovative fire fighting and mapping to its current focus of innovation and remanufacturing of large helicopters.

With our business rapidly expanding, in the fall of 2008 we contacted Penn Valley Constructors to renew discussions with them regarding a 40,000 square foot pre-engineered Steel Warehouse we had been planning for sometime.

After several meetings and several proposals, we selected Penn Valley as our builder. This decision was made based on their experience with pre-engineered steel buildings and their professionalism.

This project was handled on a design build basis with Penn Valley taking the leadership roll. When the Township approvals were completed, they had the building plans permit ready and were ready to start.

Both the design and construction of the project went extremely smoothly with completion achieved the winter of 2009-2010.

In the fall of 2010 we realized that as our business prospered we were once again running out of space. Without hesitation, we once again called on Penn Valley to add 20,000 square feet to the Warehouse and 37,500 square feet to our Manufacturing Center.

Penn Valley completed all of the design work promptly and once again was ready and waiting when the municipal hurdles were cleared. Their good relations with the Hilltown Township and the other agencies helped to make the approval process a smooth one. We have just broken ground on the additions and anticipate another successful project.

We are happy to recommend Penn Valley to anyone considering a design-build industrial project.

Sincerely,

Frank Carson
