

Penn Valley Constructors, Inc.

Richards' Turnpike Building, aptly named for its location adjacent to the New Jersey turnpike, is the seventh building in the Runnemede Corporate Campus and the fourth in the complex built by Penn Valley Constructors.

The rear loading area, pictured below, employs a unique pre-cast plank system which allows trucks to drive directly into the building for deliveries. This system can be easily collapsed to move between loading areas to enable both dock and drive-in deliveries.
